

RECOVER funding has primarily gone to observational research

In December 2020, the National Institutes of Health received $1.15 billion from Congress to study and treat long Covid. As of June 2023, nearly all of this money has been allocated.

Chart: Betsy Ladyzhets • Source: National Institutes of Health • Get the data • Created with Datawrapper